Social Work / Social Pedagogy

Full-Time | Part-Time

Profile

The bachelor's programme Social Work / Social Pedagogy qualifies you for all fields of social work in executive public service. As a graduate, you can also attain further academic qualification in consecutive and postgraduate master's programmes. The programme teaches you key skills and provides opportunities for supervised practical work. Additionally, you can choose your own areas of specialisation.

The programme is based on the demands of professional practice and structured in modules. Since there is no prescribed timetable at HSD, you can shape your own individual syllabus. Each semester, you select courses of relevant topics from the list of courses, which includes explanatory comments.

The topics covered in the modules are: administration and organisation studies, education science, law, methods of social work / social pedagogy, political science, psychology, social medicine, social philosophy, sociology and disability studies as well as culture, aesthetics and media including fine arts, literature and aesthetic practice, music, new media, performative arts, physical education and video.

The study programme meets the legal requirements of the law on the approval of social professions in Germany (SobAG). In case of professional and personal aptitude, you are awarded state approval.

Please note: The language of instruction is mainly German.
